

what we do to help...

We are passionate about looking after the world we live in and are committed to reducing the effect that our printing operations have on the environment for future generations.

We accept that waste is an inevitable by-product of industry, but strongly believe that, with correct management, we can control the influence our trade has on the quality and sustainability of our environment.

Ecological developments are ever evolving, there is still a long way to go and we will continue to develop and be at the cutting-edge of environmentally sound printing.

here are just a few of the things we're doing to help...

- We use chemistry-free plate making
- We have been printing with bio inks for 10 years
- We encourage the use of FSC and PEFC stocks which are independently certified to assure consumers that they come from environmentally managed forests, meeting the economic and ecological needs of present and future generations

- Our presses are optimised for low alcohol usage
 - Continually evaluating and improving our environmental impact
 - We are currently working towards ISO 14001 accreditation
 - All of our waste is sorted and recycled wherever possible

Many of the Maslands team have young families and as a community we hope that we can all do our bit and work together to protect our planet and keep it a beautiful and green land for our children's children. If you would like any more information on our environmental policies, please give us a call.
